

Gemini Dispersions

Gemini Dispersions is a truly global producer and supplier of quality pigment dispersions.

Products & Services

Gemini Dispersions bridges the gap between the vertically integrated giants of the pigment sector and the small local colour houses. We are “large enough to cope, small enough to care”. The range of products we sell comprises aqueous pigment dispersions, solvent-based pigment dispersions, dispersions in plasticisers and polyols and some raw materials - including certain organic pigments.

Sold under the brand name of 'GemSperse', the majority of our products utilise our own unique blend of surfactants and resin systems, offering an excellent combination of multi-compatibility, quality and value for money.

In addition to our extensive product ranges, we also provide a range of tailor-made products and toll manufacturing services, serving pigment manufacturers and large colour users with quality products and technical service.

Applications

Our products can be used in a wide variety of applications across a range of aqueous and solvent-based systems.

Some of our key market areas include:

Aims

We have made real progress to meet our objective of being market driven and of achieving long term success by developing professional approaches to the manufacture and marketing of quality products. Additionally, we always endeavour to provide the highest levels of technical service and support for our customers, maintaining our reputation for expertise in the field of pigment dispersions and their applications. It is our attention to detail that makes the difference between satisfying customers and delighting them.

Demands on manufacturers are constantly intensifying, be they quality, legislative or just simply price. Working in partnership across the whole supply chain, real solutions have been found that have set new standards for quality, compatibility and economy - without costing the earth, either in terms of price or environmental impact. We are proud that Gemini Dispersions is both ISO 9001 and ISO 14001 registered, a rare achievement in the pigment business. These certifications are a testimony to our commitment to quality and the environment.

The commercial, technical and production management team of Gemini Dispersions are dedicated to dealing with customers as partners, which will ultimately determine our continued success in an increasingly demanding and competitive market.

Markets

It is our combination of flexibility, excellent products and customer service that characterises Gemini Dispersions across the global market, with sales in over 40 countries on every continent.

Our parent organisation, Dominion Colour Corporation, is an International manufacturer and supplier of quality organic and inorganic colour pigments, based in Canada. DCC is also ISO 9001 and ISO 14001 registered and has been in business since 1946, thereby bringing a great deal of market knowledge and technology to Gemini Dispersions. Our combined structure fundamentally strengthens our ambitions to extend our global presence, especially in Asia, the Middle East, Eastern Europe and across the Atlantic.

Already the two companies are working together on exciting new ventures.

We are confident in our ability to meet with your requirements and invite you to participate in our success by talking to us to see how you may benefit from the products and services offered by Gemini Dispersions.
